18/02/2021 Czechia - Czech Republic Amends VAT Law

It has been recently announced several VAT amendments in Czech Republic. Among them, it is foreseen that:

- When a corrective VAT return is submitted, in which the total amount of the reported input VAT exceeds the total output VAT liability, the total final amount of the net input VAT deduction shall ordinarily be refunded without the taxable person having to request the refund.
- When a VAT return generates a VAT credit position, such refund shall be processed within 30 days from the deadline for submitting the relevant VAT return. However, if a VAT audit takes place the refund shall only be processed upon closing such audit. In this context, and considering that the VAT audits can take some time, a new legal instrument named as "provision of the advance payment for net input VAT deduction" was introduced into the Czech Tax Code, in which under certain conditions the taxable person is entitled to receive an advance payment in the amount corresponding to that part of the VAT refund requested in the VAT return which is not being audited.

03/02/2021 - European Court of Justice, “Commission v Autriche (TVA - Agences de voyages”, Case C-787/19 - Failure to comply with VAT Rules for Travel Agents

The ECJ has announced that the Republic of Austria did not comply with the obligations settled by the article 73 and articles 306 to 310 of Council Directive 2006/112/EC of 28 November 2006, insofar as it has excluded travel services, which are provided to taxable persons in the frame of their business, from the special value-added-tax scheme applicable to travel agents and allowed travel agents to determine the taxable amount for VAT on a flat-rate basis for groups of services or for all services provided during a taxable period. The position of the ECJ therefore allows travel agencies to benefit from simplified rules regardless of the type of customer.

Secondly, the Court recalls that the tax base for the profit margin of travel agencies must be determined for each single supply of services provided by the travel agency and cannot be determined globally for groups of services or for all services provided during a tax period.
